Dying man 'has to live on 12p a day'

A TERMINALLY ill man has been living off 12p a day for food after being refused benefits.

Peter Duut, a Dutch national who lives in Haverhill, has worked long hours as a carpenter in the UK for the past two-and-a-half years.

When he became terminally ill with cancer in April he tried to claim benefits, only to be told that he does not qualify.

Peter and his wife Laurel have since been unable to afford enough food, and are battling with the Department of Work and Pensions (DWP) to give them enough money to live off.

Laurel said: "Peter was advised to top the amount of Jobseeker's Allowance up with Income Support. Being ill myself I was unable to advise Peter and to my horror realised that he had a payment of £55 pounds per week for both of us to live on and pay our bills with in our rental property.

"He was then told that he had failed his Habitual Residency test and that he had no right to reside in the UK, even though he had been paying all of his national insurance stamps and taxes."

The pair tried appealing to the DWP and called on MP Matthew Hancock for help, but have yet to have their financial situation resolved.

After paying their bills, the couple are left with just 12p each day for food. Peter now weighs 9st 2lbs (58kg).

Laurel said: "He looks like a person who had been released from a prison of war camp and is unable to walk far due to frailty and breathlessness."

"He has developed stomach problems due to not eating regularly and very small amounts for such long periods of time and having no money for food."

The DWP states that Dutch nationals can receive benefits only if they are active in the labour market, but Peter has widespread cancer and has been told by a doctor that he cannot work.

Laurel said: "I do know that the legal system is a cold system, yet where does one draw the line on torture and inhumane treatment or even right to life?"

Matthew Hancock MP said: "The case of Mr and Mrs Duut is difficult and complicated. I deal with many such cases, and am working to try to support the Duuts to find a solution."

A spokesman for the DWP said: "We understand that this must be a difficult time for Mr and Mrs Duut and we are working with them to ensure they get the benefits they may be entitled to, such as Disability Living Allowance."

Plea over benefits

A HOUSING association has called on Government ministers to rethink changes to housing benefits which they fear could force vulnerable people into hardship.

Suffolk Housing Society is campaigning for ministers to think again about proposals under the Welfare Reform Bill which could see people in the area with disabilities and foster families lose out on £676 a year.

The Bill, which is being considered by Parliament, would cut the amount of money given to people with a spare bedroom, even if the room is being used by a foster child.

Ian Winslet, chief executive of the society, which is responsible for more than 2,000 affordable homes in the county, said: "We take the welfare of our tenants very seriously and are concerned that these measures could cause hardship for a lot of local people."

Life's a picnic as councillor chips in to help improve Old School Field

PICNICS on Old School Field in Kedington will now be a lot more comfortable after the installation of two new tables – and further improvements are on the way.

The new picnic tables, one of which has been adapted to allow wheelchair users to sit at, are now in place at the recreation ground in School Road, Kedington.

The tables, and a new wooden litter bin, were provided by Kedington Parish Council with a locality grant from Cllr Anne Gower of Suffolk County Council.

Cllr Gower has now announced she will also be providing a further £1,000 towards replacing some of the safety surfacing on the playground.

Terry Wheeler, chairman of Kedington Parish Council, said: "The parish council is very grateful to Cllr Gower for providing the money to purchase the picnic tables and litter bin, and also for providing further money to help with the refurbishment of the safety surfacing on the play equipment, which will help to enhance Old School Field and keep the children who play there safe."

Much-loved Chris 'helped hundreds'

BY RUTH NORRIS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

HAVERHILL Citizens Advice Bureau has paid tribute to a member of staff who will be "missed by all who knew him".

The funeral of Chris Darlington took place on Tuesday at the Risby Crematorium in Bury St Edmunds.

Chris, from Clare, had worked at Haverhill CAB since 1999, when he took a post specialising in welfare benefits. The role and the need for the service grew over the next 12 years, and the CAB said Chris played a "significant role in developing the excellent service we have today".

His post as a welfare benefits and employment advisor saw him give free, impartial help and advice to those in the area struggling with work or benefits.

A statement released by the team said: "Chris Darlington, who died last week, was a long-serving and much-respected member of the advice team at Haverhill CAB.

"He was a character who enjoyed strong northern tea, heavy metal music and telling bad jokes.

"Chris more recently suffered ill health yet in spite of this he made sure that his work for others was not affected. He will be missed by all who knew him."

Chris took on an additional role as employment advisor, and provided support to members of the public who found themselves at odds with their employers and without the knowledge or resources to deal with the situation.

The statement added: "Over the years, Chris helped hundreds of clients to resolve matters and where necessary represented them at tribunal.

"Chris's work at CAB and the helping of others was at the centre of his life and there are thousands of members of the community who have much to thank Chris for."

When the Haverhill branch merged with the Bury St Edmunds and Brandon and Mildenhall bureaux, Chris was appointed to a senior role within the new organisation, and was looking forward to providing an improved service to his clients.

Man trapped in machine

A MAN was taken to hospital with facial and head injuries after he became trapped in machinery at a factory in Little Wratting.

The incident occurred at the Vion Food pork processing plant at 12.40pm last Thursday. A rapid response car, ambulance and air ambulance attended the scene and the man was taken to Addenbrooke's. Gary Sanderson, ambulance service spokesman, said: "A man who we believe to be in his 40s sustained facial and head injuries. "Following treatment, stabilisation and immobilisation by paramedics and the critical care team from the helicopter, he was then taken by land ambulance to Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridgeshire." A spokesman for Vion Food said: "As with all accidents in the workplace, there will be a full investigation into what happened. That is standard procedure."

Cash stolen in burglary

BURGLARS forced open the back door of a home and made off with cash at the weekend. On Saturday, thieves entered a house in Eden Road, Haverhill, and took a wallet from an upstairs room. The incident took place between noon and 4.45pm. Suffolk police are asking anyone with information to contact them on 01284 774100 quoting reference HH/11/2194.

Council HQ to remain open

COUNCIL offices will remain open as usual throughout refurbishment work. The St Edmundsbury Borough Council offices in Lower Downs Slade are undergoing building work for the next six weeks, but borough council services, Citizens Advice Bureau, Haverhill Volunteer Centre, 3CT and HAVO will remain open. The council says contractors are managing the work to cause minimum disruption to visitors.

Cut the cakes to raise cash

HOMEMADE cakes are going on sale as part of a fundraiser organised by children at New Cangle Primary School. Treats cooked up by parents, children and neighbours will be on sale in the atrium of the school in Chapple Drive, Haverhill from 3.15pm on Tuesday, October 18. All are welcome to come and buy, and all proceeds will go to Children in Need.

Mum lashes out over feeder schools visits

Viva the Vikings!

HORNED helmets, colourful shields and heavy cloaks were seen as Vikings conquered a Haverhill school for the day.

On Tuesday, the children at Thurlow Primary enjoyed a day finding out how the Vikings would have lived.

Pupils all came dressed as Vikings, armed with swords they made for their homework and with shields made in school.

A company came in to the school for the day to help the children learn more about their history topic.

Catherine Kimber, class teacher, said: "They had a fantastic time and definitely enjoyed being real Vikings for the day."

"The children did various activities, including learning about what Vikings ate, how they dressed, what weapons they used, re-enacting a Viking battle, looking at various artefacts and making clay model runes."

A MOTHER is "disappointed and angered" by what she says is an agreement by the two Haverhill upper schools' to visit only their own feeder schools.

Karen Murphy is concerned that the decision by Castle Manor Business & Enterprise College and Samuel Ward Academy to visit their own catchment feeder schools to encourage Year 6s to move there will result in a lack of choice and see children "herded" into a particular school, regardless of whether it is the best option for them.

She added: "Both schools have open days for prospective students."

"However, my Year 6 daughter was only informed of the dates of her catchment school's events. I naively told her that she'd also have a chance to meet representatives of the other upper school, which of course never happened."

BY RUTH NORRIS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"It is known to educationalists and school governors within Haverhill that many of our children have low aspirations, and few will be considering going to university. Failing to show that there are other options at this early stage may reinforce an impression of a lack of options and diversity for their futures."

Cllr Graham Newman, portfolio holder at Suffolk County Council for children, schools and young people's services, says he believes the policy is due to Samuel Ward becoming an academy, and that parents would be aware of open days thanks to the local press.

He said: "As a result of the Academies Act 2010, academies are responsible for their own admission procedures, and can decide whether they continue to operate with catchment areas. In addition, it is for academies to determine how they promote their own schools."

"The principal of Castle Manor is very keen to establish formal ties with that college's traditional feeder schools, because, in her professional judgement, the way to raise educational attainment and aspiration is to foster very close monitoring of every pupil from the time they enter the education system at age 3 through to when they leave between age 16 and 19."

Cllr Newman went on to suggest that the new Free School in Clare gives parents yet another option if they are looking for a smaller school.

He said that a reduced involvement and influence of Suffolk County Council as a local education authority can be expected as schools gain more control over their own futures.

Have a butchers at local favourite

Welcome to the second installment of a regular new column by Haverhill chef Hannah Jones, who will be sharing recipes and highlighting the very best of local produce. Hannah, who lives in Eastern Avenue with partner Matthew and young children Georgia and Jamie, is a former West Suffolk College student and chef at The Plough in Hundon and The Swan in Lavenham. She runs her own business making bespoke cakes and pastries, www.hannahsbuns.co.uk.

I FIRST heard about the Kedington Butchers while working at The Plough in Hundon.

One of the chefs there told me that's where they buy most of their meat and that I should visit them for a chat. I went there a few times and was absolutely delighted by how friendly and helpful the staff were.

They always gave me advice on how to cook the joints and which were the best cuts to use. I decided to take the plunge and ask them if I could do a little work experience with them.

I was training to be a chef at the time and thought it would help my career to have more knowledge about the meat I cook and the different cuts. They said yes and I was thrilled.

I worked at the butchers for three days and got to make my own sausages, prepare lamb chops and joint half a pig.

It was really exciting and also helpful towards my ambitions of becoming a chef. The Kedington Butchers has been trading for more than 40 years.

The lovely Michael taught me on my work experience days and interestingly, many years ago also taught the well-known chef Rosemary Shrager how to make sausages.

The meat is locally sourced as much as possible and they sell both free-range and non free-range chickens at reasonable prices.

Their pork comes from Jo Straight who is based in Helions Bumpstead. This is the meat I will be using for my recipe this week.

Hannah's pork and apple stew

■ Sweat the onion off in the frying then add to the pork.
■ Add the carrots, leeks and stock to the pork and bring to a boil.

■ Then add your bay leaf, sage and season. Turn down the heat put the lid on the pan and cook for one and a

■ Stir the mustard and corn flour into the crème fraîche then add to the stew with the apple wedges.
■ Cook for a further eight minutes until the apples are cooked.

■ Serve in a warm bowl with crusty bread.

Cyber-survey into online threats

PEOPLE are being urged to keep children and vulnerable adults safe online by letting the council know their views on e-safety.

The e-Safer Suffolk partnership has launched a cyber-survey to assess internet use around the country and gather the views of organisations which work with children, elderly people and adults with learning difficulties and disabilities.

The aim of the survey is to capture how people use the internet, and inform the partnership at Suffolk County Council about how best to deal with issues such as cyber-bullying, online grooming, exposure to pornography and identity theft.

Cllr Graham Newman, council portfolio holder for children, schools, and young people's services, said: "I would urge all schools, colleges and voluntary organisations to take the opportunity to contribute to the cyber-survey now available.

"While the internet offers us all a huge resource for good, it also carries significant risks, particularly for impressionable young people and vulnerable groups of all ages.

"The e-safety strategy is directed at these groups themselves, their parents and teachers, and indeed all those who care for them or come into contact with them. Awareness of a few simple facts and taking sensible precautions could well protect targeted groups."

See www.esafersuffolk.org or email esajer@suffolk.gov.uk.

Youngsters help boost food bank's tasty treats

HARVEST gifts in tins and packets were brought along by children at a pre-school group and handed over to their local food bank.

Henry Wilson of the Haverhill Food Bank went along to the Happy Faces group in Colne Valley Road, Haverhill, for their harvest festival celebration. He left with plenty of non-perishable goods donated by families with children at the group, which will be distributed to families in the area experiencing financial difficulties.

Elaine Hatfield, leader at the group, said: "We were really pleased our parents are really generous and support us in everything we do. We have taken food to old people's homes in the past and quite a few other places. We did not know what to do this year, so we thought why not give our gifts to the food bank? Henry was really happy with them."

The group currently has 23 children on its books and meets at Colne Valley Road, Haverhill. Places for funded children are available after Christmas. For more information, phone (01440) 762515.

Couple admit benefit fraud

A COUPLE who claimed a total of more than £28,000 in benefits they were not entitled to because they were both working have appeared in court.

Christine Martin, 33, and husband Lee Martin, 37, each admitted benefit fraud charges when they appeared before Bury St Edmunds magistrates court.

Magistrates adjourned the case until November 1 so that presentence reports could be prepared, with all options open, including imprisonment.

The couple, who have children, aged 7 and 9, live in Garlands Close, Haverhill.

Christine Martin admitted three charges of failing to notify changes in circumstance to social services, the first in Thetford between April 2007 and May 2008 when she failed to tell Breckland District Council that her husband was working for ID Technology Group.

Then, in Haverhill between August 2008 and January 2010, she failed to tell St Edmundsbury

BY COURT REPORTER

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Borough Council that her husband was employed by Culina Logistics and during the same period she failed to tell the council that she was employed by Tesco Stores.

Lee Martin faced seven charges of failing to give prompt notification of a change of circumstances at Thetford and Haverhill between 2007 and 2010 in relation to income support and incapacity benefits he was claiming.

Nigel Dulieu, prosecuting, said the total amount of benefit overpaid to the couple was £28,827, although Christine Martin was charged only in relation to housing benefit and council tax benefit totalling £12,500.

Mr Dulieu said: "Last July they were interviewed by the St Edmundsbury benefits officer and made frank admissions straight away.

"They both admitted they had been dishonest and the reason was that they were in severe debt. They were not fraudulent at the outset, when the claims were made they were valid."

Sarah Hardingham, chairman of the magistrates, advised the couple to seek legal advice because of the seriousness of the offences.

She said the aggravating factors in the case were the long time over which the offences were committed and the fact that two councils were involved in Lee Martin's case.

Lee Martin told the court: "We were in a lot of debt. I lost my leg in 2006 and I have had seven years of hell, taking up to 165 tablets a week and being in constant pain.

"A lot of time I was off work sick and having to have operations. I am still having trouble with it now. I broke my back in February and I have not been able to work a great deal since then.

"We were just struggling with so much debt and we did not know what to do. We are going to pay it back - we are trying to put things right."

Runners set to line up for race through beauty of rural Suffolk

A TEN-mile race through Haverhill's scenic countryside takes place next weekend.

Anyone looking to compete or just appreciate the route still has time to sign up for the Thurlow 10, which will take place on Sunday, October 23 at 10am.

The winners of the race will receive a prize of a pair of running shoes from sponsors Up & Running, and all finishers will receive a memento of their day.

The course will take competitors through 10 miles of country lanes and farm tracks, including private roads that runners will not usually have the chance to use, starting and finishing at Thurlow Village Hall in The Street, Great Thurlow.

Residents are encouraged to support the runners by lining the route and cheering them on. The finish will be at the village hall.

Haverhill Tesco is donating bottles of water, and the race is sponsored by JMP Furniture Solutions. Entry is £10 for runners affiliated to England Athletics, or £12 for unaffiliated runners.

People can still enter online via the Run Britain website (www.runbritain.com), or can enter on the day from 8.30am.

Animal sanctuary makes call for winter warmers

HELP to keep rescued animals warm and dry this winter by donating your old duvets and blankets. Rovers ground plan not the only one with traffic issues

Sir, I refer to your story last week regarding the anger of residents who oppose the plans to build 90 new homes on the old Rovers football ground ('Anger at Rovers site homes plan', Weekly News, October 6). One of their major concerns is the traffic chaos the development will create; likewise the same problem could also occur with the proposed residential area on the Haverhill Research Park Development. The latest plans for this area show a service road from the site which will have to carry traffic from 150 new homes, a hotel, a restaurant, pub, and delivery vehicles, all onto the A1307 via a T junction. During peak hours this could well become another blackspot on a road which already has one of the highest accident rates in East Anglia. The original plans for the research park had the hotel, restaurant and pub at the opposite end of the site with their own service road; I suspect that the change has been made for building cost reasons and not for the benefit of the local inhabitants. It would appear that the developers of both sites are not considering the negative impact their plans may have on the town's infrastructure.

Thank you for helping me up

Sir, please can I say a big thank-you to the stranger who helped me to my feet after I feel down near the Crown Health Centre last Friday. Thank goodness kindness and gallantry are still alive in Haverhill. Thank you once again.

The new season began in September with a talk by Gill Shapland from Cambridgeshire Archives, about the availability of records for tracing illegitimate children and their fathers.

She had many suggestions of official documents which may exist and hold possible clues to family links.

The October meeting, today at 7.30pm, at the Old Independent Church Schoolroom in Hamlet Road, is a joint meeting with the Haverhill Local History Group, when there will be a 'royal' visit from the Pearly King and Queen of Peckham. George Major was seen

Cars torched in spate of crimes

A SPATE of thefts and car fires has hit Haverhill this week.

A large number of power tools were stolen from a van on Monday night, and then on Tuesday night a cashbox in a pay phone was drilled out and stolen.

The van was parked in Langham Way, and the thieves are thought to have struck between 9pm on Monday and 7am on Tuesday.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

On Tuesday at around 7.15pm the payphone in Millfields Way was targeted, with £50 taken from the cashbox inside.

Police are looking for two white men with dark hair and black clothing, one of whom was 6ft and the other 5ft 6in.

Two cars were completely destroyed by fire in Strawberry Fields car park, and a third was badly damaged.

The fire is believed to have been started between 2.45am and 3.20am yesterday.

Police are appealing for witnesses and anyone with information to come forward.

Anyone who can help should call Haverhill police on 01284 774100 and quote crime reference number HH/11/2215 for the phone box incident, HH/11/2208 for the van theft, and HH/11/2219 for the car fires.

Support group leader to set out his vision for the future

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A BUSINESS support group which is helping firms to cope with the economic downturn will itself have to work in partnership with others to survive.

Alex Till, recently appointed chief executive of MENTA, the Suffolk Enterprise Agency, will be guest speaker at the bestofhaverhill meeting on Thursday, October 20 at Days Inn Haverhill at 10am.

Alex joined MENTA from Suffolk County Council where he was operations manager, and has also held positions with Business Link Suffolk, Suffolk Acre and the Suffolk Development Agency.

There are interesting times ahead for MENTA as the public sector spending cuts filter through and impact on the county, the Local Enterprise Partnerships (LEPs) build momentum and Business Link moves from a business advisory service to become the Government's online resource for business. Against this backdrop of change, the role of MENTA as a source of business support, advice and training will become even more crucial.

An ability to work in partnership with other agencies across Suffolk to meet the needs of the business community will also be required if MENTA is to survive and thrive. Alex will talk about the future of MENTA and his vision for how the agency can rise to the challenges presented by the uncertainty in the economy and develop a sustainable proposition over the coming years.

Elaine Carr, the owner of thebestofhaverhill said: "I am very pleased to welcome Alex Till. I know that he is very passionate about building on the strong foundations that MENTA has put in place over the past 27 years. He is keen for MENTA to develop and grow, despite the harsh economic climate.

"Many Haverhill businesses have benefited from the services and assistance that MENTA has made available over the years, from training courses to easy in, easy out office space. I am sure the local business community will be interested to hear how Alex sees the role of MENTA developing in the town."

To attend the free event call Elaine Carr on (01440) 710 158 or email haverhill@thebestof.co.uk by Monday, October 17.

Meet, mingle and raise a glass to networking

A NETWORKING event brought together businesspeople from the area for a chat over a glass of wine.

Office Drinks provided an opportunity for small business owners to meet and get to know each other at the evening hosted by FlipFlop Marketing and thebestofhaverhill at the Days Inn in Phoenix Road.

Elaine Carr, owner of FlipFlop Marketing, said: "We have had some great feedback about the event. People thought it was a lot of fun and something a bit different.

"There was a real buzz in the room and I am sure that business will be generated from the contacts made.

"It's a good networking opportunity for those business owners who aren't used to networking or don't like walking into a room full of strangers. Office Drinks throws people together and gives everyone the opportunity to talk about their business in a relaxed and sociable environment."

The Haverhill event attracted businesses from the town as well as Clare, Sudbury, Bury St Edmunds and Cambridge. The next event is on Tuesday, November 1.

Tickets cost £9 and are available to buy online at www.office drinks.co.uk. Places are limited to 25 and it is advisable to book early.

New role: the Black Horse, which closed in January, will become two houses with landscaping and parking.

Old pub set to become homes

PLANS to turn the former Black Horse pub into housing and to have a takeaway open at Cineworld until 2am have been approved by the council.

At a development control committee meeting last Thursday, St Edmundsbury Borough Council voted in favour of the new two-house development at the pub, and to allow KFC at Cineworld to open until 2am at weekends.

The Black Horse, a pub in the north side of Camps Road which closed in January, will be turned into two houses with parking and landscaping. Road access in Edmund Close will be upgraded.

The pub garden will be split into two to provide an outside area for each house.

There were five letters of objection to the plan from

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

neighbours, who raised concerns that the new development would result in noise from cars, that Camps Road is already a congested area and that contractors' vehicles might damage nearby houses during building work.

Planning officers stated that the fabric of the building would not be significantly changed, but that an external store would be removed.

They also said the noise disturbance would be significantly less now the building is not being used as a pub.

The KFC at Cineworld in Ehringhausen Way will now be permanently allowed to open from 7am to 2am on Friday and Saturdays, and from 7am to midnight the rest of the week.

The takeaway has been allowed to open at these hours for the past six months as part of a trial period, but will now be able to on a permanent basis.

Suffolk Police have not noted a rise in crime or anti-social behaviour throughout the trial period, and Environmental Health Services made no objection as they have not received complaints about noise because of the longer opening hours.

Neighbours raised objections on the grounds that late night revellers at the takeaway would disturb their sleep with shouting and rowdiness, and that the plan would do nothing to improve the image of Haverhill as a town.

They are also concerned that it will encourage other establishments to consider staying open late at night as well.

Third trek up Everest for man who battled stomach cancer

Mountain high: Peter Hobson at Everest on one of his previous treks to the summit; facing page, relaxing at home, and below right, running the Robin Hood Marathon in 1996. CP

PETER Hobson is training for his third Everest Marathon. Reaching altitudes of 18,000 feet, and taking in snowy, icy, steep and rocky terrain, it's listed in the Guinness Book of Records as the highest marathon in the world.

That's no mean feat for a man of 62. For a man who's also battled back from cancer – and lost his stomach and spleen to the disease – it's a breathtaking accomplishment.

"If someone says: 'You've got cancer and we're going to take your stomach away,' it may not be the horror story you think it's going to be," explains Peter.

"Yes, it's scary; it's scary as heck. But I haven't had a moment's illness since, not even a cold. And I'm back to leading a full and completely normal life: I'm back to running my own business, I'm back to running marathons.

"I'm not going to live in fear: without being stupid, I want to push myself to the edge – to find out where the edge is."

On November 13, Peter,

BY ALICE RYAN

who lives in St Ives, will fly out to Nepal for a two-week acclimatisation period – and then it's up to Base Camp to run the 26 miles to Namche Bazaar, a village sandwiched between two towering mountains: Kongde Ri to the west (20,299 ft) and Thamserku to the east (21,729 ft).

"I first went to Nepal in 1989 with a friend, to trek to Base Camp. That wasn't tough; it was a bit like walking in the Lakes, only with less air! But I fell in love with the country, the people and the landscape, immediately: in so many ways, even though it's poor, it's such a positive place."

Peter is doing the sponsored race to raise money for Addenbrooke's, the hospital which saved his life. "Last time I did the Everest Marathon, it was only nine months after my surgery so, as you can imagine, the time wasn't great... You can actually get disqualified if you are not keeping up, so my goal was to finish last, which I did. I just wanted to make it round. But I raised over £4,000 for the hospital.

"I run for two reasons: to have something positive to focus on, and to raise money for Addenbrooke's."

Peter's passion for running is lifelong. He began his career as a secondary school PE teacher, a profession he chose because, at the time, he was a competitive athlete. Running primarily 800m and 1500m, he was competing against the likes of Olympian Steve Cram.

But then, deciding it was time for a change, Peter quit teaching to become a professional angler, fishing for prize money, sponsorship and endorsements. As with the running, he'd been fishing since he was a small child.

"That was a very happy time in my life. But I wanted to retain a decent level of fitness, even though I wasn't teaching and running any more. That's why I signed up for my first marathon, the Ramathon in Derby: I needed a goal to work towards."

Although Peter, who has two grown-up daughters, insists he never really 'got the marathon bug', he went on to run marathons all over the world – including Orlando, Chicago, Los Angeles, and three in New York.

"Running a marathon is a big deal, but it had stopped being a big deal for me. There was no longer any question whether I'd finish, it was all about the time I ran it in.

"It got to the point, as I got a bit older, when I found myself being overtaken by people in fancy dress. I realised I was never going to get any better. So the question was: 'What do I do instead? What next?' – and that's when I moved into adventure marathons."

Opting for a baptism of fire, Peter's first adventure was the infamous Marathon des Sables, a six-day run across the Sahara. It was, he admits, 'hell'.

Next, in 2003, came the first Everest Marathon. "Being a bit pretentious, I was actually a bit disappointed in my time. They say you can double your road marathon time, because of the reduced oxygen; I finished in about 7.5 hours.

"Then, when I got home, I just had no energy. I was getting stomach ache every day and I had no oomph at all.

"I thought the marathon must have taken more out of me than I'd realised. But after a while, with no improvement, I did something I never do: I went to the doctor.

"Initially he thought it might be a touch of Nepal belly, or maybe that I had an ulcer – I'd just started my own business, so I had been a bit stressed.

"But still nothing changed. Just before Christmas I went back to him and said: 'Look, I can't even run 200 metres; a month ago I was doing a marathon. There's something wrong here.'

"So he referred me for an endoscopy – and that's when they found the tumour."

The growth, about the size of an orange, was inside Peter's stomach. Tests showed it was malignant. The good news was that the cancer hadn't spread; it was contained within the stomach wall. The bad news was that Peter would need both major chemo and radical surgery to survive.

"The shock was massive: it lasted for about 12 hours. I can always remember coming back home, standing on the balcony and looking out at the view.

"That was my lowest moment, right there. I thought: 'You know what? I'm not ready for this.' I'd been sent home to put my affairs in order and I knew I had to get my head round it, but I couldn't get my head round it..."

"I thought: 'How many more times will I be able to stand here and look out over this valley?' It wasn't so much depressing as disorientating; I felt totally disorientated."

Peter, who divorced from the mother of his daughters in 1996, lives alone. He has an apartment in the Old Mill in St Ives; set right beside the town's historic bridge, it looks out across the picturesque river and water meadows.

"I actually lied to them at the hospital and said there was someone at home that night; I knew if I'd told them I was going to be alone they'd have made a fuss...

"We have a friendly divorce, so the next thing I did was arrange to meet up with my ex-wife and both my daughters, Laura and Chloe. I told them all together. They were upset, of course. But they were also strong: it's a strong family."

The first phase of Peter's treatment was six months of chemotherapy to shrink the tumour. Running his own business – called Inspiru, it's a personal and business development company, offering services such as coaching and motivational speaking – Peter continued working throughout the chemo, which was dispensed by a portable pump.

"In a way, work was a saving grace. When you walk out on to a stage, to speak to a huge group of people, there are no other thoughts in your head. You haven't got cancer any more; you're totally focused on the task in hand."

Then came surgery, to excise what was left of the tumour. Having never had an operation before, Peter admits feeling terrified: "When I woke up afterwards, I actually felt elated. It was a case of: 'Bloody hell! I'm still here!'"

Surgeons managed to salvage 20 per cent of Peter's stomach. But a few weeks later, the consultant called to say his histology results were less than perfect – and Peter was given the choice of either taking a chance, or having a second op to remove the remainder of the stomach and also the spleen. He took the second option.

"Nine days after the first operation I was in an Indian restaurant having a curry and a pint; nine days after the second one I was having another curry, but with only half a pint this time... I don't even like curry that much, it was just my way of proving a point.

"Fostering an attitude of hope and determination might not work for everybody. But I think that if you think you're dead, you're dead; if you think you're strong, you're strong."

Peter went on to prove his strength, both mental and physical, by completing that second Everest Marathon. And now, of course, he's well on his way to completing a third.

A keen writer, Peter is also currently working on a Book of Hope: a collection of real life stories, each a triumph over cancer, it's for cancer patients of the future.

"When I was diagnosed, I met lots of wonderful people who told me what to expect from my treatment and my surgery. But what I really wanted was to hear some success stories, to give me some hope – hope that life would go on, and be as good, if not better, than before.

"Without my stomach I do struggle to put any weight on. And, because of not having a spleen, my immune system is lowered, so I have to take penicillin every day. But, aside from that, I can honestly say that I lead a totally normal life – and it's brilliant."

Running for Addenbrooke's

Peter is running the Everest Marathon in aid of Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge – specifically for the Intermediate Dependency Area, where he received care in the wake of his two operations.

Asthma no barrier to half-marathon

Dad Matthew tackles run to help other sufferers

BY RUTH NORRIS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

AN asthmatic man has fought his condition and run a half-marathon to raise money to help other sufferers.

Matthew Austin, 29, who lives in Haverhill, was cheered on by his three children as he ran the Royal Parks Foundation half-marathon in London, achieving a time of 2h 42m.

Matthew joined 12,500 other runners, including actress Angela Griffin, in an arduous autumnal 13.1-mile run around Hyde Park.

He said: "I'm still collecting the money but I've already got £200 for Asthma UK, who help children with asthma and fund new research. I'm hoping to get about £350 in total.

"It was a really lovely day, running round Hyde Park on Sunday. The first hour was nice anyway, then after that it started to get really tough. I've been aching ever since."

Matthew has suffered from asthma since he was 16, and has

I've done it: Matthew Austin, who has asthma, tackled a half-marathon in London at the weekend – without using his inhaler. CP to use his inhaler every day. However, he now has the condition sufficiently under control to allow him to run the half-marathon without using his inhaler.

Matthew says he had always wanted to do a marathon, but never had the level of fitness required.

He said: "I lost about a stone through all my training. I tried to get out every other day for a 40-minute run. I've always been quite sporty, playing football and other things, but never quite there enough to do endurance running.

"It was really great though. I've already signed up for next year's run, and I hope in a few years I'll be up to a full marathon."

Matthew also raised extra money for the charity by holding a raffle with prizes from Haverhill companies Skin Flash Tattoo Studio, The Bra Shop and Just Cuts.

To support Matthew, donate money to Asthma UK by texting MATA82 and the amount (eg MATA82 £1) to 70070.

Youths sought in rape inquiry

Teen victim of sex attack

BY RUTH NORRIS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

POLICE have released images of a group of Suffolk youths they want to trace in connection with a rape.

A 15-year-old girl was sexually assaulted in Southend behind Adventure Island off Marine Parade at 10.30pm on Friday, April 8.

Police believe the men in these photos were near the crime scene and returned to Suffolk the next day.

Essex police say two of the boys are central to their inquiries. The first is described as white and has black hair. He was wearing beige shorts, a blue polo shirt and white Vans trainers.

The second has blond or brown hair and was wearing a pink polo shirt. Both are aged in their mid to late teens.

DI Colin Norton, senior investigating officer, said: "These two boys were with a group of around 20 other young people who we think started out on the arcade side of the road, but then crossed over to the beach.

"We think they travelled into Southend for the night and then returned to Suffolk.

"The girl spoke to several people before and after the assault took place and we're confident that those people will be able to help us."

Anyone with information should contact detectives at Southend police station on 0300 333 4444 or anonymously via Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

THE high quality of work done by Haverhill Volunteer Centre (HVC) has been recognised by a national charity.

The centre was assessed on its services and development of volunteering by Volunteering England, which then decided to award HVC the Volunteer Centre Quality Accreditation.

Elaine Hewes, volunteer co-ordinator, said: "We are delighted to have achieved Volunteer Centre Quality Accreditation and are proud that Volunteering England believes we are taking quality seriously.

"Now we can build on the good work that we have already started here in Haverhill, continuing to help both individuals and volunteer involving organisations in the local community and providing a comprehensive service."

HVC recruits volunteers from all walks of life and places them with organisations which need them. They help to find the right people for more than 250 community projects in the area.

The team will be presented with their certificate by MP for West Suffolk Matthew Hancock at the Volunteer Centre's annual general meeting at the Haverhill Arts Centre on October 28.

Volunteer England assessed the centre on their volunteering opportunities, how they marketed volunteering, their development of good practice and of their volunteering opportunities, and on their policy response and campaigning.

Motown on tour

THE Magic Of Motown returns to Cambridge, honouring Berry Gordy's seminal record label with an evening of hits by The Temptations, Diana Ross, The Four Tops, Stevie Wonder and more.

The smash-hit touring show is at the Corn Exchange tomorrow at 7.30pm. Tickets are £12-23. Contact: (01223) 357851 / www.cornex.co.uk.

Opera in HD

OPERA lovers can be transported to the fabulous Metropolitan Opera in New York thanks to the sixth season of The Met: Live in HD, which sees the venue's productions being broadcast in high definition to cinemas around the world.

The 11-opera season gets under way on Saturday with Donizetti's Anna Bolena, directed by David McVicar and starring Anna Netrebko.

The 6pm performances can be seen locally at Cambridge Arts Picturehouse, Cineworld Huntingdown and the Abbeygate Picturehouse in Bury St Edmunds. For more information, see www.picturehouses.co.uk or www.cineworld.co.uk/metopera.

No oil painting

RUNNING all week at the ADC Theatre, Cambridge, is The Picture Of Dorian Gray; a dark tale of the transience of youth and beauty. Ensnared by the power of his own looks, Gray sinks deep into a world of selfish pleasure; unchanged by his sins or untouched age. But up in his attic, the portrait painted by a lover tells a different story. Tickets cost £8/£10 (£6/£8 concessions) and the show starts at 7.45pm, until Saturday. Sisters' songs of the south

IT'S been a slow road to success for Alabama sisters Catherine and Allison Pierce.

Their self-titled debut album was released in 2000, and they were talking about their "last chance" of making it big as far back as 2007's Thirteen Tales of Love and Revenge. With new album You & I, though, the stars have finally aligned – at least in the UK, where the recruitment of Coldplay's Guy Berriman on production duties persuaded the siblings not to split up, and earned them a top five hit into the bargain.

Though based in New York, the duo are spending a lot of time over here consolidating their success, while planning a renewed assault on their homeland which, as yet, remains puzzlingly indifferent to their charms.

For the record...

DO you remember when your next single was the most important thing in your life? Morgan Howell does: recapturing that feeling from the golden age of the 7" was the inspiration behind the artist's meticulously hand-painted recreations of old 45-rpm records, a selection of which are on display at Williams Art in Cambridge until Sunday.

Howell paints large-scale canvases of classic records as they looked inside their sleeves, capturing the crinkles, tears, aged paper, original typography and all the intimate details of well-worn, well-loved old singles, from Bowie's Ziggy Stardust and The Who's My Generation to Black Sabbath's Paranoid and The Clash's White Man In Hammersmith Palais.

Morgan will be signing prints on Saturday between 2pm and 5pm.

Will Tony and his friends be able to save Lola before it's too late? Come and find out – evening shows at 7.30pm with a matinee at 2.30pm on the Saturday.

If you are starting to think about October half term activities, here's two dates to mark on the calendar: on October 24 at 7.30pm there is a return sports pantomime fun for the whole family with LDN Wrestling and on Thursday October 27 at 2pm, from the writers of The Sooty Show and Basil Brush, we have Theo the Mouse in Magical Mayhem. The big film

THE LION KING certificate U 113m

DISNEY'S highest-grossing hand-drawn animation of all time strides back onto the big screen, looking more sensational than ever in 3D. Directed by Roger Allers and Rob Minkoff, The Lion King may be 17 years old but its age doesn't show. The opening sequence to Circle Of Life dazzles the senses with a breathtaking aerial shot of flamingos soaring and the arrival of beasts large and small to celebrate the birth of their future leader.

The rich, lush colours of Africa shimmer while our hearts stir to Elton John and Tim Rice's Oscar-winning soundtrack. A potent blend of comedy, tragedy and believable characters puts many recent animated features to shame and the pivotal stampede sequence is even more thrilling in 3D, dust seemingly clouding our vision as one king falls and another rises from his destiny. Elderly lion Scar (voiced with glee by Jeremy Irons) plots to usurp his brother, the majestic King Mufasa (James Earl Jones), and seize control of the grasslands in a fragile alliance with the hyenas. The scoundrel orchestrates a devilish plan to kill Mufasa and newborn cub Simba (Jonathan Taylor Thomas), the rightful heir to Pride Rock, by luring them into a canyon during a wildebeest stampede, in which Mufasa dies while saving his son from being crushed. Simba is overwhelmed by guilt – and flees his homeland, collapsing in the jungle where he befriends and eccentric double-act – neurotic meerkat Timon (Nathan Lane) and flautulent warthog Pumbaa (Ernie Sabella).

Years later, a full-grown Simba (Matthew Broderick) chances upon his former sweetheart Nala (Moiré Kelly), who tells of Scar's despotic reign. Filled with anger, he returns to Pride Rock to overthrow Scar and save his family from extinction.

The Lion King 3D is an unmissable roar from the past which effortlessly tugs the heartstrings. The script strikes a perfect balance between laughter and tears and vocal performances are excellent from Broderick's guilt-ridden exile to Irons's slippery usurper, who gets all of the best lines, including that classic retort to young Simba's question if he will like a surprise: "It's to die for!"

Grafters get their rewards

THIS year, amid all the hubbub of family life, I'm ashamed to say that I forgot about several plug plants which had been posted to me by Suttons, including the F1 tomato Conchita and the F1 aubergine Scorpio varieties.

They remained in their plastic delivery tubs far longer than they should have done and when I finally planted them into pots on my sheltered, sunny patio in June, they understandably looked somewhat forlorn.

However, in no time at all they perked up and, with a little TLC, all the plants have now given me plentiful crops, which is more than I can say for another tomato plant I bought from a nursery, planted out immediately and lovingly tended but which has succumbed to late blight.

Amazed at the harvest I received from the plants I first neglected, I discovered that they were all grafted plants. The growers select vigorous disease-resistant rootstocks and graft tasty varieties on top, removing the top of the tasty variety by hand, using a small blade to slice diagonally across the stem.

The strong rootstock of the

by Hannah Stephenson

second variety is then removed by the same process and the two plants are grafted together using a special clip, which drops off naturally as the plant grows.

I have found that the grafted plants I tested have been resilient enough to resist my initial neglect and avoid the late blight which has obliterated the fruits on my non-grafted plant.

Likewise, my grafted aubergine, which hasn't been fed as much as it might, has already produced half a dozen large fruits and more are coming.

Grafted tomato plants have been used by commercial growers for many years and available to home gardeners for the last five, but many amateurs are unaware of the increased yields and vigour they offer.

Although they can cost an average of £10 for three plants, the rootstock encourages greater vigour and your plants will crop earlier and continue later into autumn and produce heavier crops, plus they will have greater resistance to pests and diseases.

Suttons is increasing its range of new grafted plants for 2012, featuring the tomatoes F1 Cupido, a small, sweet plum type replacing Dasher in the range, along with Tomato Twins, which has two varieties from two grafts and one rootstock, producing two different types of cherry tomato – Orangino and Florryno – on two stems, and Tomato F1 Shirley, which produces medium-sized fruit.

Other grafted plants you can try include sweet peppers, melons, cucumbers and butternut squash.

Of course, there will always be those who argue that the relatively high price of grafted plants will be prohibitive and that it's just as easy to grow tomatoes from seed and end up with many more plants for their money.

Just be aware that, if you are a beginner or have had endless failures with tomatoes in recent years because of blight, the rootstock of grafted plants is highly resistant to soil-borne pests and diseases which can build up in greenhouse border soil and elsewhere.

SMALL BEGINNINGS: grafted tomato plants have been used by growers for many years.

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler/central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- ☐ On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

3 EXTRA HINTS FOR A SMOOTH MOVE...

WHO TO NOTIFY:

- ☐ Banks.
- ☐ Building Societies.
- ☐ Credit companies.
- ☐ Insurance companies.
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and Water Boards.
- ☐ Telephone company.
- ☐ Local Authority (Rating Department).
- ☐ Driving Licence authorities.
- ☐ Inland Revenue.
- ☐ Store cards and accounts.
- ☐ Other lease, hire or rental companies.
- ☐ Employer.
- ☐ Doctor.
- ☐ Dentist.
- ☐ Schools.
- ☐ Professional Bodies/Trade Unions.
- ☐ Motoring organisations.
- ☐ Newsagent.
- ☐ Friends and relatives.

Seat: You can Copa better without VAT

Spanish firm's top deals

SPANISH car maker Seat has revived its hugely popular "Pay No VAT" campaign as it seeks to continue its most successful year to date and attract even more new car buyers to the brand.

The new offer covers two of the Barcelona-based car company's most popular models – the stylish Ibiza 5dr 1.4 SE Copa supermini and the sporty Leon 1.6 TDI S Copa family hatchback.

Like all Seats wearing the 'Copa' badge, both cars boast as standard many hundreds of pounds' worth of the most sought-after equipment previously found on the options list.

Yet, with Seat picking up the 20 per cent tax bill, motorists choosing the Ibiza will pay just £10,699 – a saving of £2,105 – while those opting for the Leon will pay £14,909, saving £2,970. The 'Pay No VAT' offer is available to retail customers only, subject to status, and terms and conditions apply.

Normally retailing at £12,805, the Ibiza 5dr 1.4 SE

The Seat Ibiza Copa: Extra kit, and zero VAT – quite an offer.

Copa is packed with desirable goodies including 16-inch alloy wheels, climate control, rain-sensing wipers, auto-headlights, front fog lights with cornering function, cruise control, front electric windows and an MP3-compatible CD player with AUX-in.

The Leon 1.6 TDI S Copa, which normally retails at £17,880, comes with 16-inch alloy wheels, dual zone climate control, Bluetooth, front fog lights with cornering function, cruise control, an MP3-compatible CD player with AUX-in, ESP stability programme with XDS (electronic differential lock) and a Start/Stop system with energy recovery.

Meanwhile, Seat is also offering a host of discounts on a variety of other models. A variety of Ibiza SC models – including the Ibiza Cupra and Ibiza Cupra Bocanegra hot hatches – are available with as much as £1,500 off the RRP, while Ibiza 5dr and Ibiza ST models are offered with discounts of as much as £1,750.

Kia's revised Soul is now on sale

New or revised 1.6-litre engines and the introduction of a six-speed gearbox on all models improve performance while lowering fuel consumption, emissions and running costs. The distinctive and highly original exterior styling is now even sharper while continuing to emphasise Kia's obsession with quality. The revised model is now on sale offering a choice of two regular trim grades, badged Soul 1 and Soul 2, and two 'Soul Originals', the Hunter and Quantum.

Soul Originals is a rolling programme of special versions with unique styling and trim, changed at regular intervals.

Refreshed: The Soul gets a makeover for 2012.

The XC60: Understated, handsome and reliable

FOLLOWING in the tyre tracks of the phenomenally successful XC90 was always going to be a daunting task, but when Volvo decided on a smaller SUV model to complement its seven-seat cash cow, few initially realised quite what a natural fit the XC60 would be.

Perhaps the greatest compliment you can pay the XC60 is that it makes you ask some hard questions about whether you really need the added space and the added cost of an XC90 when there's such a good vehicle in the line up. Used buyers are asking the same question and many see no need to go any bigger than the slick '60.

THE HISTORY

The first UK cars made landfall in autumn 2008 and the range consisted of 2.4-litre diesel of either 163bhp or 185bhp D5 variety. Customers weren't long on petrol engine choice, with just a grunty 282bhp 3.0-litre

Hard questions: Such as why do you need a XC90 when you can have one of these?

T6 unit available. In spring 2009, the 163bhp diesel engine in the range was upgraded to 175bhp with front-wheel drive variants being offered for the first time under the DRIVE eco badge. November 2009 saw the announcement of the sportier R-DESIGN models. Buyers looking for a more economical petrol choice had to wait until 2011 and the launch of the T5 model. It still wasn't what you'd call modest though, its 237bhp power output making it more than a bit lively.

WHAT YOU PAY
Square away £16,500 for the first of the 58-plated XC60 2.4D S models, although with a bit of Google sleuthing you might well turn up an SE for this much.

A Geartronic automatic gearbox tends to tack around £300 onto this price. Don't be too worried about higher mileage examples, as this diesel engine can run and run. D5s start at around £18,000 with the front-wheel drive DRIVE cars starting at £20,000. Best of luck tracking down a T6. They're extremely rare. You're more likely to find ex-demonstrator 2011 model year T5s in the dealer network.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR
Make sure the car is in very good condition. There's no reason why it shouldn't be, as it will be within warranty, but you may find a few scuffs or scratches on some of the interior plastics. Few XC60 owners will have subjected their car to any tough off-road antics but it's worth a check to see that the underbody hasn't been damaged by clumsy off roading.

OVERALL
Understated, handsome and reliable, the XC60 makes a good used buy. You'll search hard for any massive bargains but you pay for what you get.

I'd be looking out for a D5 SE that's been used for school run and shopping duties and take no prisoners when haggling.

Gay gets his reward

STUART Gay has been rewarded for 18 years of hard work and dedication to his sport by receiving his 4th Dan certificate from Haydn Bridgeland and Pete Green of the Guildford Institute of Martial Arts. Gay, the head coach at Haverhill Wado Freestyle Karate Club, first started training in 1993 and gained his first Dan and second Dan black belts before becoming the chief coach at the club in 1999. It was the first time the GIMA had handed out a black belt grade since their inception 18 months ago. But although a relatively new association, their head coaches have been studying martial arts for 30 years.

At the same time, Georgina McGivern, Zoe Evans and second Dan coach, Greg Malyon, were presented with certificates for passing a first aid course.

■ The Haverhill Wado Freestyle Karate Club trains every Monday and Wednesday evening at the Chalkstone Community Centre in Haverhill. Further information from Gay or Malyon on either 07527 372864 or 07811 878328, or you can email hwfk@sky.com

Well done: Pete Green (GIMA), Greg Malyon, Stuart Gay, Georgina McGivern, Zoe Evans and Haydn Bridgeland (GIMA) at the presentation ceremony. CP

Charlie leads way in Rovers' goal rampage

Haverhill Rovers 10 Needham Market Phoenix 0
Suffolk Cup, under-13
ROVERS dictated play from the start and were a staggering 9-0 ahead at the break. Charlie Ellam led the way with four and further goals flowed from Kane Robson, Callum Henderson, Chino Nkem-Paul, and James Austin (2). The game followed a similar pattern in the second half, but Rovers were only able to add a solitary strike from Kieran Harrison.

Haverhill Rovers 0 Woodbridge 12
Suffolk Cup, under-15
WITH no county competition for their age group, Rovers' under-14s made the decision to enter the under-15 competition and drew defending EJA champions and cup favourites Woodbridge.

Physically larger and stronger, the visitors wasted little time in taking the lead and were 4-0 down at the break.

Their cause was not helped by losing Shulver, who was caught late in a tackle and had to be taken to hospital.

And, although they managed to take the game to their rivals for a time, Rovers were set back by two quick goals before Woodbridge gradually overwhelmed them.

Haverhill Rovers 2 Sizewell 3 (aet)
Suffolk Cup, under-15
A BATTLING performance against an A league side ended in disappointment for Rovers. They were level at half time, thanks to an audacious goal from Tom Marsh, who fired in from the halfway line. And although the visitors edged in front after the break, Rovers got back on level terms when Joe Mustoe bundled in Marsh's pass and they could have won it when Joe Adams worked an opening on the edge of the Sizewell box but could not put the ball away. However, the visitors progressed thanks to a goal in the first period of extra time.

Godmanchester Rovers 1 West Wrating 2
Cambridge and District Colts League under-15A

A STYLISH finish from skipper Mark Coulson set Wrating on the way to a good win against a strong side. Coulson opened the scoring, tucking the ball under the Rovers keeper after moving on to Ben Weedon's pass. However, the home side posed problems at set-pieces and, soon after they equalised, Wrating keeper Aaron Millar had to make three smart saves to keep his side on level terms.

Coulson then missed a penalty after Weedon was fouled. But just as the game looked set to be heading for a draw, Harry Wilson headed in Harvey Scotton's corner.

St Ives Rangers 2 Kedington 7
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-14
KEDINGTON recovered well from a double-goal blast to run out comfortable winners.

Bailey Cassidy opened the scoring, running the ball through the defence, but St Ives quickly levelled and went ahead.

Ellis Wiffen equalised, but once Conor Rankin put Kedington ahead again there was no looking back. Further goals from Ty Alleyne, Rankin, Jason Moore, and Wiffen made sure of the points.

Hardwick Harriers 2 West Wrating 1
BM Kempton 9v9, under-12
LACKLUSTRE Wrating were punished by a goal in each half at Hardwick, who avenged their cup defeat.

A moment of individual skill from Lennon Westley produced Wrating's goal, but they were indebted to goalkeeper Charlie Mitchison for keeping the score down against a side who showed greater hunger and commitment.

Bar Hill 1 Haverhill Rov 4
S-Tech Cambs Girls League, under-16
ROVERS maintained their 100 per cent start to the campaign with a comprehensive defeat of Bar Hill.

Jess Stearn, Georgia Beavis, Charlotte Richter and Siobhan White scored the goals for the side, who had a late reshuffle when their keeper was taken ill, forcing skipper Stacey Barham between the sticks.

■ Haverhill Rovers Girls are looking for new players to join their under-12 and under-13 teams. Further details from Steve Hull on 07759 016470.

Day breaks to wrap up thriller

Elkins double sends Wrating through after 11-goal feast

Waterbeach 5 West Wrating 6 (aet)
Kershaw Premier Cup, second round
ROSS Elkins scored twice as West Wrating held on to win an 11-goal thriller after extra time.

Elkins set the visitors on their way on 15 minutes before Jake Bennett doubled their advantage on his full debut by side-footing home midway through the first half.

Danny Hills made it 3-0 around the hour mark by firing into the roof of the net before substitute Adam Smith pulled one back for the hosts 15 minutes from time with a half-volley from the edge of the area.

But Elkins looked to have killed the game off for Wrating with a penalty five minutes later after Owen Longley was fouled in the box by Martyn Flack.

Waterbeach had other ideas, though, as Adam Fisher and Ashley Shipp netted in quick succession before Sammy Lawson sent the clash into extra time with his last-minute equaliser.

The visitors kept their heads and restored their lead through Longley before substitute Tom Day finally ended Waterbeach's hopes, although they still had time to net a late consolation courtesy of Shipp.

Wrating joint-manager Brian Pilgrim, whose side travel to Lakenheath in the last eight, said: "We showed a hell of a lot of character to go from being so much on top to being so down and deflated to pick ourselves up again in extra time."

Karen and Mary sail into next phase

MARY Sail and Karen Wilby will represent Haverhill in the knockout stages of the prestigious Daily Mail foursomes.

They won the qualifying round at Coupals Road with 31 points, just clear of Kathy Bowman and Linda Macfarlane (29pts) and Cate Heathfield and Teresa Spittle (28pts).

The draw for the next round will be held in January.

■ Marion Kendall has had her handicap cut by two after storming to an emphatic victory in the ladies' medal. She finished seven shots clear of Linda Macfarlane after carding 92-24-68. Macfarlane recorded 102-27-75 to beat Mary Sail, 94-16-78.

■ Haverhill's Paul Donno and Sam Ward (Ufford Park) came out top when the first Winter Alliance meeting was held at Rushmere, Ipswich.

In sweltering conditions they recorded stableford 44 points to pip Peter Jiggins and John Partridge (Stoke-by-Nayland) and Dean Garnham and Steve Wade (Felixstowe Ferry) on countback.

Lawrence Dodd (Bury Driving Range) was the leading professional with a level-par 70.

■ Haverhill's men won 'The Bone of Contention' in their match at Abbotsley. The visitors made the most of the excellent conditions and hospitality to earn a 4½-3½.

■ Glen Hughes won the M Rayner Cup (medal qualifier) on countback from the junior section's vice-captain, Liam Merritt.

Hughes, who has had his handicap trimmed by one, carded 81-16-65 with Merritt, who shot the lowest gross score. He recorded 73-7-66 to also have his handicap trimmed by one. Alan O'Donoghue was third with 83-17-66.

Ryan mighty in rout

Haverhill Rovers res 14
Felixstowe Utd res 0
Suffolk Senior Reserve Cup, second round

HAVERHILL Rovers cruised into the third round of the cup after a one-sided encounter. Ryan Weaver got the ball rolling after 22 minutes and added a further four goals in the second half – three coming in a devastating nine-minute spell.

Devon Guyon scored two minutes after the opener, and the tie was settled before half time when Rovers opened a 5-0 lead with further goals from Alex Clark, Jordan Tovey and Devon Guyon again. The onslaught continued after the break, with Tovey and Clark doubling their tallies. Devon Guyon completed his hat-trick and Chase Guyon and Aaron Palmer completed the rout.

Lewis is a real 'Tractor Boy'

CHRIS Lewis, the Haverhill Rovers under-14 striker, has been offered an Academy contract with Ipswich Town. Lewis (right), a student at St Bede's School, Cambridge, was sent for a trial at the Championship club by Rovers, who have developed a healthy relationship with their county neighbours. The striker, a key player in Rovers' Eastern Junior Alliance side, scored in trial games against Arsenal and West Ham.

And Rovers' under-14 manager Ali Shulver said: "I'm delighted for Chris. The EJA set-up is designed to prepare players to go on and play at a senior semi-pro level in the future. "It is also common for boys to be picked up by pro clubs at a good age where players are competing for scholarships."

Betts lets fly again over refs

FC Clacton 2 Haverhill Rov 0

Ridgions League, Premier Division
PETER Betts was again incensed by the officials after injury-hit Haverhill lost at Clacton on Saturday.

The Rovers boss felt his side should have been awarded a penalty in the first minute, claiming a home defender handled the ball in the area.

He also questioned an offside decision after a Haverhill attacker was flagged after making a run straight from a long throw.

Betts said: "The officials were abysmal and it summed the whole game up.

"I don't want to use it as an excuse because we're crippled by injuries at the moment, but their decisions are affecting the game in a big way.

"I feel like a broken record, but the referees we've had lately are nowhere near this level."

Betts admitted poor officiating had left him feeling disillusioned about the game.

He said: "The frustrating thing at the moment is, rightly or wrongly, I worry about the standard of refereeing before every game and it shouldn't be like that.

"It's taking the enjoyment out of it for me because we're working hard in the week in training and we've assembled a squad capable of competing. But we're getting ruined by poor refereeing."

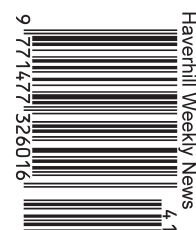

Haverhill did not have a midweek game this week to Betts' delight with 12 players out injured or unavailable at the moment.

He said: "We needed this break, but hopefully things will sort themselves out and we'll get back to where we know we can be."

Rovers are back in action at home to Brantham on Saturday.

Peter Betts: 'I feel like a broken record'.
